Dear Ms. Hood:

Word has reached me of your heroism in helping to rescue a severely injured driver whose truck skidded off the road and plunged into the Harpeth River.

I was encouraged to learn that because of the efforts in which you assisted, this near-fatal tragedy had a happy ending. Your willingness to assume personal risks for the sake of another is a sign of true courage and compassion. By reaching out as you did, you have brought great credit to yourself, your community, and your profession. But even more than that, you proved that a selfless heart and willing spirit can make all the difference in the world.

My hat's off to you, Mary. With best wishes for the future,

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Gourdomichalis:

Thank you for your detailed and thoughtful letter of October 12 concerning the Maritime Attache position in Athens. I welcome your expression of concern and appreciate your commendation of the performance of Captain Stono.

Since April 1986, the U.S. foreign affairs agencies have been engaged, under Presidential direction, in a rigorous program of overseas personnel reductions. Among the cuts identified in a senior-level interagency review were the four maritime attache positions in Athens, Rio de Janeiro, London, and Tokyo. Given the current level of budget shortfall it will be very difficult to justify restoration of positions identified for elimination by this procedure. Nevertheless, I have referred your concerns to the Departments of State and Transportation. Please be assured that the importance of the Greek merchant marine is well understood.

In closing, let me say that events in the Persian Gulf continue to draw world attention to the importance of maritime affairs, and I was gratified to read the Union of Greek Shipowners' expression of support for the Western Alliance.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Sugahara:

Thank you for your letter of October 20. I am acutely aware of the international economic implications of what we do and say. Technological advances and the continued development of a truly global capital market make international aspects of our activities even more important. The recent worldwide instability in the financial markets is an object lesson that should not be lost on anyone.

I can assure you that the President is equally aware of these ramifications. There are times, however, when public utterings do more harm than good and when quiet "diplomacy" here and abroad should be the watchword.

Thank you for continuing to share your thoughts on these important matters.

Dear Jim:

Thanks for your note and the attached materials regarding Federal deficit reduction. I appreciate having the benefit of your ideas, especially during this period of budget negotiations with the Congress. As you know, the President has agreed to put everything on the table with the exception of Social Security.

We are confident that an agreement can be worked out to reduce the Federal deficit and ensure the continuation of the longest peacetime period of economic growth in our Nation's history.

Again, thank you for sending a copy of your earlier proposal. Best regards.

Dear Tom:

I am pleased that REACH was able to start on the scheduled date of October 1, 1987. I understand that meetings were held between your representatives and representatives of the Administration, and that all remaining issues were satisfactorily resolved in time for you to receive Federal waivers granting the necessary authority for this implementation.

I applaud you for your initiative and creativity in pursuing this program. I know that you were occasionally frustrated with the progress and process, but I hope you understand that we must be deliberate and careful in exercising our limited authority to grant waivers.

I am delighted we could be helpful in achieving a positive outcome. I have enjoyed reading the well-deserved press that you, REACH, and the State of New Jersey have been receiving.

Dear Mr. Weiss:

It is a delight for me to send my congratulations on your 90th birthday.

I hope you have a wonderful celebration on this very special day. May the year ahead also be filled with much happiness.

With warm good wishes,

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.

Dear Mr. Ambassador:

Thank you for your kind letter following the visit to the White House of Their Imperial Highnesses the Crown Prince and Princess of Japan. It was indeed a pleasure for me to have been involved in their visit, and I'm delighted that their stay -- despite its brevity -- afforded them an opportunity to experience life in the United States. Visits such as theirs contribute immensely to broadening the historic friendship shared by our two peoples.

Please convey my sincere thanks to Their Imperial Highnesses for their gift of the beautiful cloisonne vase. I deeply appreciate the goodwill that prompted this traditional gift from their country.

With my best wishes,

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.
Chief of Staff to the President

Dear Jack:

Thank you for your suggestion to hold a luncheon at a major film studio for General Secretary Gorbachev during his visit to the United States beginning December 7.

At this stage, it does not appear that the General Secretary's itinerary will include any travel to other regions of the United States far from the summit site here in Washington. We certainly will keep your proposal in mind should there be a change in the situation.

Warm regards.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.

Dear Governor Bangertter:

Thank you for your letter inviting me to address the Governor's Conference on Economic Development next February. I am honored that you would ask me to participate.

The subject is indeed timely, and I am sorry that the heavy demands of my schedule will not permit me to join you in Salt Lake City. Nevertheless, you have my very best wishes for a most productive meeting.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.
Chief of Staff to the President
